Reported Issue

Description

For Calculation Rule eligibility criteria, there is currently no option to specify whether the effective characteristic value should be determined based on the consumption start date or the bill segment start date. The system currently defaults to using the bill period start date to retrieve the effective characteristic value.

Calculation Rule

Rate Schedule

Reported Issue

- Create a V model.
- Plug the configured Rate Schedule on Rate Info tab of Service Agreement.

Copyright ©2026, Oracle. All rights reserved.

Service Agreement – Rate Info Tab

- Add a characteristic value with the configured characteristic type with Effective Date of 01-02-2025.

Service Agreement

- Perform Rate Check with Should Trace On.

Rate Check

Rate Check Results

- Expected Result: The Calculation Rule of ZZFLATCHG should get executed based on Consumption Start Date.
- Actual Result: The Calculation Rule of ZZFLATCHG is not executed due to Insufficient Data based on Bill Segment Start Date.

Solution Design

- Introduce a new element effectiveDateSource on Rate Engine Master Configuration (C1-RateEngineConfig) BO.
- Update Rate Engine Master Configuration (C1-RateEngineConfig) BO related maintenance and display UI maps to include the new option drop down field.
- Update the Derive SQ Helper (DeriveSQHelper_Impl) class and Apply Calculation Rule Eligibility Criteria Evaluate Criteria Field Algorithm Component (ApplyCalcRuleEligibilityCriteriaEvaluateCriteriaFieldAlgComp_Impl) class to retrieve the effective characteristic value based on the "Effective Date Source" defined in the Rate Engine Master Configuration (C1-RateEngineConfig) BO.
